About This Game

Stuntman and engineer in one? No problem with Bridge Constructor Stunts!

Build imposing ramps and loops to reach your goal in the diverse stages. But building structures alone isn't enough this time: you sit behind the wheel of the vehicles yourself and have to maneuver them skillfully to the goal. Collect stars, complete daredevil jumps, flips and spectacular stunts, leaving behind a trail of destruction across the entire level to beat the high score. But you can only do all that with perfectly constructed bridges and ramps.

Join the huge Let's Play community

To ensure none of your jumps are forgotten, you can save your runs as videos and GIFs, directly upload them to GIPHY and share them with your others (video export and GIF upload functions for Windows version only). Let the world be part of your most outrageous jumps!

Improved Construction Mode

Once again you have access to a variety of building materials with different properties. Numerous improvements make building even easier: simply click to convert a beam you have built into road, and vice-versa. Click and hold on a part of the construction and you now have the option to reposition your structures without having to build them from scratch.

Loose Screw!

We have hidden some hard-to-reach screws in some of the levels. Find and collect them, and you might be able to put these screws to good use in the future...

Not as fun as the original. buggy.. Terribly sorry but after running out of budget for the umpteenth time I got bored of this game and off-loaded it. Looks great on paper I will agree but the gameplay is so frustrating. Obviously a steep learning curve attached to this game but it is supposed to be fun. Though I like an element of learning in a game I felt the curve to play this was too steep and a more player-friendly experience can be had playing Medieval Bridge Constructor or the original Bridge Constructor game itself.. A fun game for 10 minutes and then it gets boring. It has also lots of bugs. I would definitely not recommend to buy this for full price, hardly at 75%.. I would rather play hill climb racing. Which is free, and fun. Which this is not.

"Bridge constructor"... lol. Very nice game! Cool and unique game-play!

It is fun to build the ramps and then stunt on them :-D. It's very different from others Bridge Constructor, but it's fun to drive the truck on the bridge we build.. this game is very good

i feel so funny

this game make me

everyday laugh lolllllllllllllllllllllllll

you must play this game before you dead.. Pretty awesome. Kinda different from most bridge building games. It's like it's 50% bridge building game, 50% 'Hill Climb Racing' on Android. Also it's got some nice reggae in the main menu and some simple, but edgy rock music while playing and there's a lot of explosions. I like the style and how it's really energetic. It's like if Michael Bay made a bridge building game.

Price seems fair, comparable to most similar games, but unlike some of them it kept my attention for a good while. There were a few quirks, but nothing that really bothered. So yeah I'd say pick it up if it's your cup of tea :)

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=CqLBUrowsqQ&ab_channel=OJJVZ. This game is pretty dope. It's like a fun little mix of slow puzzle planning and bridge building with a little bit of the all-out chaos of Trials or something. How much you like it will largely depend on whether those things appeal to you, but if they do then maybe give it a try!. horrible bridge building controls and horrible stunt gameplay. even for a budget series, this plays terribly. not worth your time.

So Bridge Constructor Stunts is like Poly Bridge but with more stunts. And I for one quite enjoyed it! I've played through campaign 1 and 2 and it just gets better and more difficult with each level.

I also made a video, feel free to watch it if you want to!

If you enjoy building bridges and try them out yourself then this is the game for you, the graphics aren't that new but the gameplay is smooth and very enjoyable!

I recommend this game, 8/10.. a fun annoying stunt game to keep you entertained. Yet more Bridge Constructor, Stunts stretches the already somewhat thin premise about as far as it can go.

The key problem here is that Stunts is as much a game of skill as it is bridge building, as many of the levels require your control of the vehicle is precise to get through. The dual-requirement for the game doesn't play out well, and makes the game less "fun" than it might have been.

As such, it compares poorly with other bridge constructor games in the series. It's not possible to recommend this over those.. Meeeh, for some people it would be a fun mechanic that you can drive the trucks yourself, but i dont like it. I just like to build a bridges, not the driving.. This game is pretty dope. It's like a fun little mix of slow puzzle planning and bridge building with a little bit of the all-out chaos of Trials or something. How much you like it will largely depend on whether those things appeal to you, but if they do then maybe give it a try!. Nice game I really like it but the finishline is a flag and I always fly over it so I dont finish and that makes levels sometimes really hard.

I also got the game for free maby because I one bridgeconnstructor, bridgeconstructor Medieval and bridgeconstructor playground?

But overall i really liked and recommend this game! its is really fun!. Not as fun as the original. buggy.

Steam Cloud support now added:

Good news everone: we finally added Steam Cloud Save to Bridge Constructor Stunts. Captain Lance Murdock gives us two broken thumbs up, because now he can play with the same save game at home and in hospital!. Vambrace: Cold Soul Feature-Trailer #2: "Combat":

Vambrace: Cold Soul is coming to Steam 28th May 2019! To prepare you intrepid adventurers we made a 3-part feature of how the roguelite fantasy-adventure will propel you on a journey filled with memorable characters, brutal challenges, and deep strategy!

Feature #2 is all about the game's turn-based combat system and various mechanics:
